To receive a ProBoard certificate one must complete the corresponding IFSI course. For these various courses, the ProBoard Seal and number will be on the downloadable IFSI certificate of completion when it becomes available following the class - no additional forms or payment is necessary. IFSI is paying the certificate fee on the student's behalf, except for Fire Officer I and II.

*Vehicle and Machinery Level I or II: Though it is not a prerequisite to take the IFSI classes, to receive ProBoard certification for either Vehicle and Machinery Operations/Technician Level I or II, the student must have completed Rope Rescue Operations Level I. If the Rope Operations - Level I class is/was not completed through IFSI, the student needs to submit proof of course completion to IFSI before the ProBoard certification will be granted.

The Department of Defense will accept ProBoard and IFSAC certifications.
